Thomas W. Dortch, Jr., Chairman Emeritus of 100
Black Men of America, Inc

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of TWD

Thomas W. Dortch, Jr., Chairman Emeritus of 100 Black Men of America, Inc. and Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of TWD, Inc., has established himself as a leader by diligently working to dismantle systemic barriers to empowerment.

Under his guidance, The 100 Black Men of America expanded from 43 Chapters in the U. S., which now include 102 chapters throughout the United States, Africa, England and the West Indies. Formed in 1986, the mission of the “100” is to improve the quality of life, and enhance the educational and economic opportunities for African-Americans.

Mr. Dortch launched his formal career in 1972 writing proposals and developing fund raising projects for the State of Georgia that sought to aid marginalized members of society. He became the Associate Director of the Democratic Party of Georgia in 1974 where during his four-year tenure he assisted in the creation of the first charter for the state party and wrote the first Affirmative Action and Compliance Review Program for the Party.

In 1978, Mr. Dortch began working with U.S. Senator Sam Nunn by providing technical assistance at conferences, meetings and public hearings. In 1990, he became the State Director and served as Chief Administrator over five field offices and one state office. Mr. Dortch was the first African-American to serve in this capacity for a United States Senator.

In 1994, Mr. Dortch chose to apply the more than twenty years of experience and knowledge gained from working in government to his business interests. These include serving as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of TWD, Inc., a consulting firm with emphasis on business development, public relations and fundraising; President of South West Investment Group (SWIG), a community development and investment group; and Chief Executive Officer of Atlanta Transportation Systems, Inc., a paratransit system that manages non-emergency transportation for Fulton County Government. His other business involvements include serving as Chairman and CEO of Cornerstone Parking, Chairman of Lancor Parking

Management, LLC, and Managing Partner of FAD Consulting, LLC, a diversity management, marketing and events management company.

Thirty-six years ago, Mr. Dortch wrote proposals and developed fund raising projects designed to empower single parents and communities to meet the needs of their children. More recently, he authored "The Miracles of Mentoring: How to Encourage and Lead Future Generations," published by Doubleday Books. He is the Architect of the 100's Four for the Future.

Some of Mr. Dortch's other accomplishments include: establishing the National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame Foundation, Inc. as a vehicle to highlight the major contributions of Historically Black Colleges and Universities and their graduates; co-founding the Georgia Association of Minority Entrepreneurs (GAME) to fill a void as an advocacy organization for minority business development; and co-founding the Greater Atlanta Economic Alliance as a capacity building and business development organization for the construction and transportation industries.

He has had guest appearances on C-SPAN, the Montel Williams Show, Talk Back Atlanta, CNN, Good Day Atlanta, Fox News Channel The O'Reilly Factor and The Oprah Winfrey Show. He was listed as one of the 100 Most Influential Black Leaders in 2004 by Ebony Magazine and 2007 publication of The Atlanta Business Chronicle. Additionally, he speaks to a wide range of organizations interested in facilitating the empowerment of others.

He earned a B.A. Degree in Sociology and Pre- Professional Social Work from Fort Valley State University in 1972, and a Masters of Art Degree in Criminal Justice Administration from Clark-Atlanta University in 1986. He also attended Georgia State University as a Ford Fellow in the Urban Administration Program. Dortch received Honorary Doctors Degrees from Fayetteville State University, Jarvis Christian College and Fort Valley State University.

He is currently the Chairman of the National Cares Mentoring Movement, a national effort founded by Susan Taylor, Editor Emeriti of Essence magazine to recruit one (1) million black men and women to mentor 1 million black boys and girls.
