TO THE PEOPLE:
FUELING THE REVOLUTION FOR ENERGY JUSTICE
Delaware State Area Conference

The Delaware NAACP State Conference Environmental & Climate Justice team is working with the City of Wilmington, DE in support of environmental remediation efforts in the neighborhood of Southbridge. The project, for which the City has set aside $14 million, will restore a filled, natural wetland and clean up an area that was contaminated with metals, polychlorinated biphenyls, polyaromatic hydrocarbons and pesticides.

The initiative will improve the network of sewer pipes, add a new road to connect Southbridge to the opposite side of the Christina River and the riverfront redevelopment project, and create a new wetland to absorb water when there are storms and heavy rains. The area will also include a park and walking trail.
